

Free E-Mail

Think one e-mail account is enough? No way! There are many reasons to sign up for more free e-mail accounts. Free e-mails are offered all over the net and millions of people are taking advantage of them. Why do companies offer free e-mail? Advertising, and the more likely you will partake in some of the services they offer.

There are some free email services that will PAY you to use them.

<http://www.zwallet.com>. Not only do they pay you they give you 50 MB of space which is about 5 times as much as any other service. So for those big files filled with picture of the vacation you want to send to friends, this is one of the email service to go with. Or you can go to <http://www.flickr.com> not only host your photo but will make them available to anyone you want.

You'll need access to the Internet from any location, which means you don't need to be on your own PC, (Personal Computer) you just need access to the internet from any ones computer from anywhere in the world..

Reasons why you need more than one e-mail address.

- (1) Got your friends and family to e-mail to you.
- (2) For all those things you signed up for and now you are receiving junk mail.
- (3) May be you would like an e-mail address with a snappy name, like the_instructor@inbox.net
- (4) You could double up on some free offers or free coupons.

If you agree with all these reasons, then you are a candidate for another free e-mail.

Who offers free e-mail.

<http://www.emailaddresses.com/>

This site offers a directory of free e-mail. Go to this site and click on "free e-mail services." Click on the letters from "A" to "Z" to find the e-mail services that fits your needs.

As an example, let's look at signing up for free mail at <http://www.email2me.net>, a very popular free e-mail service.

The process is about the same with the other email services, only the links are different.

- (1) Go to <http://www.email2me.net>
- (2) Click "Sign Up"
- (3) Enter the information requested. This includes entering your first name and last name, your country, gender, date of birth, occupation.
- (4) Enter account information.

You have successfully created your account.